

Success With Honor

November 11, 2011

Last night, when students were upset that JoePa might resign/be fired, a few started kicking over trash cans in frustration. But other students went back and picked up the trash can while all the students around them clapped. They said JoePa wouldn't have wanted us to do things like that. If that doesn't tell you everything you need to know about what Joe Paterno has done for this school, and the respect that the VAST MAJORITY of students have for our university, I don't know what does.

« Forever True <3 — For The Kids »

May no act of ours bring shame.