

Just an Outside Source

November 13, 2011

I just want to share a little of the way I feel as a non-Penn state student... This is the text I sent my best friend who has been a student at PSU through undergrad and now as a grad student, he let me know that it meant a lot to him so I thought others may want to hear a fellow Big Ten student's opinion (From the University of Iowa):

“Hey bud. I know this is random but I just wanted to let you know in spite of this crazy week and all the * that has happened and will happen against the football staff, I am proud of the Penn State fans and players that stood up for those victims and fought for your school as a whole, it literally made me cry.”

“Anyone who puts this on Penn St is kidding themselves. It's so apparent the pride the school has and the honor they have. Just a rotten apple putting a bad situation. It pisses me off the way people are talking as if it is beyond the staff, that's just not fair to the students.”

« We Are...One — Ideas Worth Spreading »