

Shame, if there is a conscience

November 15, 2011

Your nation is looking at you as the “successors” of their legacy and tomorrow’s leaders. You have the option to fall-in-line with decency and moral integrity and show genuine outrage at the wrong-doers of an evil committed on a child – yes, wrong-doers, by either a “quiet complicity” or an outright evil act OR show that you have turned evil into “good” and good into “evil” by backing Paterno and those, like him, who should have come forward. Chose wisely.
