

Many Congratulations to Proud to Be a Penn Stater and RAINN

December 5, 2011

Earlier this morning, December 5th, 2011, Proud to Be A Penn Stater has reached its goal of $500,000. As of 10:45am, their total currently sits at $500,565. All of the funds raised through this campaign will support RAINN's Online Hotline, which helps thousands of survivors of sexual violence across the nation. Ever since the Penn State news broke, RAINN has experienced a 54% increase in demand. Since their founding in 1994, they have helped more than 1.5 million people with the support they need towards recovery. However, don't let accomplishing this goal be the end of this movement by Penn Staters. WEstillARE encourages you to look into alternative ways outside of fundraising to become involved in helping RAINN and local rape crisis centers.

Another way to help RAINN is to become an Online Hotline volunteer or volunteer at your local rape crisis center. The cost to become a certified hotline volunteer is free and requires you to complete an online hotline training course facilitated by RAINN, complete a background check (provided by RAINN), and be on time for your shifts that you schedule.

The local rape crisis center is the Centre County Women's Resource Center, located at West Nittany Avenue in State College, PA. To read more about how to become a volunteer in a few easy steps, you can look at their application process.
